

Fossil Ridge HS Ridge TV Program Courses

The courses offered within our Ridge TV program include (in order):

- 21st Century Media & Technology (5 credits)
- Television Production (5 credits)
- Television Production 2 (10 credits)
- Television Production 3 (5 credits)

Course Details:

- 21st Century Media & Technology is a quarter-long class that teaches students the basics of visual storytelling, composition, sound techniques, and editing. This is a required class for those students who choose to enroll in TV1
- Television Production is a quarter-long course that is responsible for the production of our weekly Ridge TV broadcast during 2nd and 4th quarters.
- Television Production 2, a semester-long course. Students enrolled in are responsible for the production of our weekly broadcast during 1st and 3rd quarters and have the opportunity to work on individual projects such as short films, live events, and much more.
- Television Production 3 is a quarter-long advanced film production course for students who are considering a career in the video production/film industry after graduation from Fossil Ridge. Students enrolled in this advanced course specialize in the production role they are most interested in, explore careers and college programs in the film and video production industries, and produce our best quality productions.